

Resonant Seeds

Society as grand totality, reiterations and feedback forming secret cathedrals and death camps in the sky. Authority as fully integrated programming in now biomechanical flesh. The society of control as democratized fascist state, the ultimate realization of the enlightenment project. Everyday life has been colonized by the soft machine, the global computer consciousness of self reinforcing feedback reiterations. The jackboot descending on your face has become part of your dream consciousness. Tactics of faux resistance replicate hegemony, ultimately helping control to expand, to perfect, to refine itself. Activists are social workers in the human relations department of the social factory, reintegrating every disruptive element back into totality.

New tactics are needed, asymmetrical operations in conflict with totality. The individual is profoundly overwhelmed in this war of mechanization. A head on revolution or military offensive is doomed to failure, power differentials assure they will be crushed. In asymmetrical social war, a principle of resonance provides the tactical guidelines. Tactics of invisibility are adopted. A subterranean projectual struggle, flexible and dynamic rather than becoming a fixed mass formation. The projectual resistance as secret society of anarchs and chaotes. Deep structures are covertly undermined through these resonant principles. Resonant changes are nearly invisible, but the changes accumulate and grow. Seeds lay in the soil, and their roots sprout into a rhizome structure. They grow & eventually they bloom. Resonance as psychological operation of guerilla ontology in an ongoing social war.

It is necessary to create invisible networks of resistance, with mobile tactics. Disentangle from the system, while all the while secretly undermining the hegemonic foundations. Anti-media campaigns against the empire of signs, outside the grasp of the computer gods. Adopting tactics to cut flows of images, autonomous means of communication. Twist the pressure point of the semiotic control system (consider the mindfuck, pranks, the monkey wrench, or detournment). Sabotage and refusal undermine the material basis. Forget the totalitarian revolutionary vanguard, whether Marxist or Insurrecto-Social-Democratic-Justice blocs. Instead invisible asymmetrics of psychic nomadism. Rather than mediate rage through politics, anti-political action involves attack on the daily oppression and humiliations we encounter. Smash the augmented reality headset before you forget you are wearing it.

Campaign to Play For Keeps
PO Box 701
Cobleskill, NY 12043

